2:00 pm - Voyage into the heart of French jewellery and tea at Ladurée (Additional Cost)

Duration around 2 hours

A magical moment in the temple of French know-how - Exclusive access to the Chaumet museum, Place Vendôme

Chaumet, jeweller since 1780, introduces you to the private salons and museum. You will have access to two centuries of creation through this historic collection.

Visit the Grand Salon (classified as a Heritage landmark) a remarkable example of interior design in the heart of Paris overlooking the Place Vendôme, where Frederic Chopin actually spent the last four months of his life.

Discover the history of Parisian jewellery by visiting the museum with the Curator in the Salons des Diadems where Chaumet will share their new collections in a moment of refinement, elegance and luxury.

You will emerge from this visit understanding their French history, know-how, creation, architecture and music.

Teatime at Ladurée, rue Royale

LADUREE, PARIS

Walk 5/10 minutes from the Place Vendôme and enter the famous Ladurée Tea house whose emblematic creation is the sugary, round macaroon — in 20 flavors. The old-is-new-again teahouse is a temple to Marie Antoinette. Enjoy a real French teatime, in a private salon upstairs, where cushiony banquettes, set against wood-paneled walls, mirrors and painted murals will make you travel into the XVIIIth century.

Menu: Coffee/tea or chocolate, fresh pressed juice, a pastry of your choice, 3 sweet finger food pieces, 2 macaroons.

Each guest is given a macaroon gift box.
